Donna Hajj has agreed to serve as our Elections Coordinator again for this year (SP19), but will need someone to volunteer for next year (SP20). If anyone is interested, let Kim Dudzik know and Donna can train someone on the process while performing it this year.

1. College Promise: <https://mycollegepromise.net/> - All faculty should be aware of the College Promise Program. First time students can get their first year of tuition for free. Kim Dudzik went over the eligibility and requirements on the webpage. This will also pay for student health fees, student representation fees, construction fees, and enrollment fees for all Promise scholars in spring and retroactively for fall.
2. Update on new Councils: CCC approved the new Institutional Effectiveness Council Charge. This group will be up and running starting spring 19.

III. Vice President's Report: None

IV. Part-Time Officer-at-Large Report: Robert Stafford, Part-Time Senator-at-Large, discussed his experience being on the Academic Senate as a Part-Time Officer-at-Large. Robert Stafford has done this for two different years and encourages part timers to consider it and be more involved. Robert Stafford will run again for this position but highly encourages more people to run.

V. Committee Report

- A. Sophia Romeri, Guided Pathways Report: Sophia Romeri reported on Pillar One team: clarifying a path. Students were given a stack of cards listing every major in the catalog and were asked to categorize those majors into clusters. There are eight metamajors in total. This will be brought in during convocation to have faculty staff and students take a survey and give their input. There was a request to clarify the list for students. The survey will come out in January. Respond to surveys to provide your feedback.
- B. Moriah Gonzalez-Meeks, Student Success and Equity Report: Moriah Gonzalez-Meeks reported a professional development series of trainings. There will be trainings of different areas, growth mindset, habits of mind, etc. If anyone is interested in having their department involved, contact Moriah Gonzalez-Meeks.
