P A C T A L K

On Friday, August 31, Pathway Academy held its first PAC Talk (Pathway Academy Creators Talk) session of the semester. PAC Talk was created by student peer mentors to provide a safe space for students in Pathway Academy to socially engage with their peers and mentors. The sessions are designed to help students talk openly about their academic and social challenges as college students. This community support system allows students to build healthy and meaningful relationships that foster a college culture of self-care. The first PAC Talk was such a huge success that we now schedule monthly PAC Talk sessions. Many students liked the idea of having a safe space to express what they feel and, more importantly, realize that they are not alone in their struggles. These talks encourage students to join the PAC to success!!!

Coyote of the Month

We are excited to introduce our Pathway Academy Coyote of the month. Our Coyote of the month celebration is a platform where we want to recognize Pathway Academy students that are active and demonstrate leadership within their student cohort. This month we are happy to introduce Sonia Mendoza as September's Coyote of the Month. Here is what Veronica Corral, program coordinator, and Claudia Cuz-Flores, program counselor, have to say about Sonia:

"Sonia Mendoza-Reyes is a dedicated and hardworking Cuyamaca College Student. She has worked with the Pathway Academy Team to promote the Title V program and the Encuentros Conference at her former High School, Mount Miguel. She has worked with Mount Miguel teachers and students to share her college experience and encourage students to attend college to continue their education. Sonia is thinking of majoring in nursing and has the right character for the job since she really cares about helping others."

-Veronica Corral, PA Coordinator

"Sonia is in her first semester at Cuyamaca College and already stands out. Since day one, I was able to notice her warm and kind smile that allows for a friendly connection with her fellow peers. She's a pleasure to have in my class. She definitely has the Coyote Spirit. Go Sonia! Go Coyotes!"
